

Key Messages – Philadelphia NTI

We recognize that now is a time of incredible change and rapidly evolving conditions that affect the important work we all do. But in times of change, it's critical to invest in training, because updated skills and knowledge allow us all to better and more quickly respond to both challenges and opportunities. We hope you'll join us for this wonderful event!

- NeighborWorks loves Philly! We're so happy to return to this wonderful city, which is an ideal destination for an NTI.
- Philadelphia is a convenient and efficient travel destination, particularly for east coast participants.
- Everything at this NTI is conveniently and comfortably situated at the Philadelphia Marriott Downtown and the Philadelphia Convention Center – which are connected by skywalk so participants don't need to walk outside and weather is not a concern.
- The event takes place directly above the Reading Terminal Market – a very popular place for great food and fun.
- The event takes place in a vibrant part of town that is packed with restaurants and shopping, and adjacent to sites that Philadelphia is known for (the art museums, City Hall, Independence National Historical Park, etc.)
- We're offering more than 75 expert-led courses over the course of the week, many new or updated. Course content covers both tried-and-true as well as innovative new approaches that are informed by our national reach and the effective, efficient work of our staff and NeighborWorks network organizations.
- We're offering a variety of topical afternoon workshops that cover hot topics in our field and our work.
- We're offering opportunities for participants to connect with each other for learning and building networks of support.
- Because of the unique combination of intensive courses and after-course-hours peer learning and networking, the NTI is a great place for participants to focus on career prospects and personal growth and development.
- NeighborWorks knows how to host an event! Our institutes are famous for impeccable organization and top-notch customer service that allow participants to focus on learning and development in a safe, comfortable, productive atmosphere.
